From the Desk of the Chief Executive Officer

The provincial election is well under way with both the Saskatchewan Party and the NDP out of the gate with a range of promises including Premier Moe's 10% rebate on SaskPower bills for one year to help offset the impact of the pandemic and the carbon tax. The rebate will be available to all rate payers including business.

Virtually every political prognosticator is of the view that we will see another comfortable majority for the Saskatchewan Party. What will be interesting to watch is what will happen with some of the other parties like the Green Party, the Buffalo Party, the Progressive Conservative Party of Saskatchewan, and the Liberal Party of Saskatchewan.

Will the Green Party make a breakthrough and elect an MLA? Will Saskatchewan's separatist party, the Buffalo Party, elect someone to the legislature or will the PCs or Liberals?

At this point it seems unlikely that we will see anything but Saskatchewan Party and NDP MLAs head to the legislature.

The provincial election is important for business in that growth must be one of the primary drivers in any political agenda. Growth in Saskatchewan essentially comes down to the big three: food, fertilizer and fuel.

The big three drive the economy and are paramount to our success. Some will no doubt disagree with this assertion but we remain steadfast in our view that in order to have adequate funding for health, education and a range of other important objectives we need a growing economy to provide the funding required.
