

Investing in our city:

Mayor's pre-budget priorities ahead of 2024

*BY MAYOR SANDRA MASTERS
City of Regina*

As we approach 2024, my focus for the upcoming municipal, provincial, and federal budgets is clear: collaborative engagement with all levels of government, continuous improvement of services, and increased competitiveness.

I am committed to enhancing the quality of basic services that our residents rely on every day. This means collecting and analyzing data to improve decision-making and innovation, and further investment in construction, road and sidewalk repairs, efficient snow removal, and park space maintenance. Working with City Administration, I am unwavering in the pursuit of delivering top-notch customer service across all city departments.

Competitiveness is the cornerstone of Regina's growth. I am determined to attract and retain a skilled workforce by making our city a more appealing place to live and do business. Through investment in world-class facilities, modernizing city processes, and reasonable policies, Regina will be a place that supports local industries, experiences sustainable economic growth, and where residents want to, and can afford to, grow their roots.

It is vital that our city works closely with the federal and provincial governments to secure investments that will shape Regina's growth and development. Investment in infrastructure, downtown revitalization, and initiatives to increase community safety and security, as well as coordination and collaboration on social and human services, will ensure Regina's future.

In 2024, we will continue to build a stronger city where all residents can thrive.

REALM Foundation Gala set for Sept. 22

The REALM Foundation is holding its 2023 Annual Gala on Friday, September 22 at the Conexus Arts Centre.

This evening of connection, community and comedy will run from 5:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

Doug Arden, a magician, comedian and ventriloquist, will provide the entertainment for the evening. Doug has been performing across Canada over the past 25 years and his one-of-a-kind comedy variety show is hilarious.

The event will also include:

- Cocktails and connections (cash bar)
- Highlighting volunteer support networks

- Dinner
- Megan J. Hazel Jewellery raffle
- Cake raffle
- Silent Auction

Tickets are $100 each and include a $50 tax receipt.
