Capital campaign enters final stages for YWCA's kikaskihtânaw Centre

YWCA Regina's kikaskihtânaw Centre for Women and Families -- a first of its kind, 96,000-square-foot community hub that brings together safe, supportive housing, crisis outreach, childcare, cultural healing, youth-directed programs and services and life-changing services under one roof -- is nearly ready open!

This incredible space would not have been possible without the involvement and dedication of some truly inspiring women.

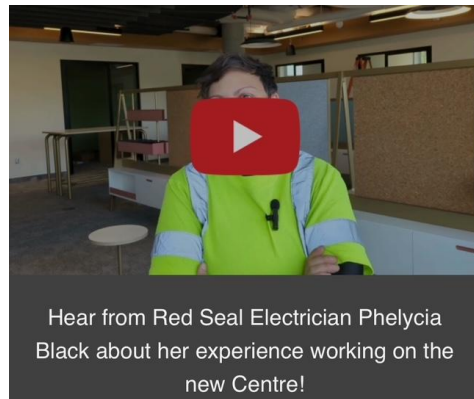

We're proud to showcase a special video featuring some of the women who've played instrumental roles in bringing the Centre to life. Their craftsmanship and passion for empowering others have helped make this dream a reality.

These women, along with your support, are helping build a brighter, safer future for our community. But we're not done yet. To truly make the kikaskihtânaw Centre a warm and welcoming home for those who need it most, we invite you to join us in the final stages of our Here for Her capital campaign.

Here's how you can make a lasting impact:

- Donate directly to help us reach our goal — with less than $1.75 million left to raise!

Together, we can empower women and families to thrive in an environment of safety, love, and opportunity. Thank you for being HERE FOR HER and for standing with us in building a community that cares.

Hear from Red Seal Electrician Phelycia Black about her experience working on the new Centre!
